DIGITAL MEDIA PRODUCTION CERTIFICATE +

This certificate prepares students to use story structure and technical skills to create professionally executed short digital media projects. Courses in this certificate include concept development, pre-production planning, and hands-on experience with a full range of digital filmmaking skills that may be used to enhance current employment and prepare individuals for a wide variety of careers using new media.

Students who complete the Digital Media Production certificate can apply those courses to CCV's Design & Media Studies (A.A.) + program.
